

I'm a character in a children's Christmas story. My first name is cute like me, but my last name is the question. Who am I?

Every Christmas to the North Pole I go. To find my way, I follow tracks in the snow. What am I?

I'm a sure sign that Christmas is on the way. And yet, when I come around, it's a dark day. What am I?

At Christmastime, I'm always well liked. I'm no volleyball, but I'm often spiked. What am I?

I'm a Christmas tradition you might know very well. With music and dancing, I'll make you come out of your shell. What am I?

I predate Santa Claus by just a tad. You might say I'm the ultimate holiday dad. Who am I?

Unlike my counterpart Santa, I don't bring toys. I come to punish the bad girls and boys. Who am I?

I keep a secret until Christmas Eve or Day. Then I make a mess wherever I lay. What am I?

Christmas is almost here and the elf is running late. Besides the toys that bring cheer, what's most important for her to make?

You might think I'm a present for a pachyderm. But whoever gets me will have to wait their turn. What am I?

ANSWERS

1. Cindy-Lou Who.
2. The Polar Express.
3. Black Friday.
4. Eggnog.
5. The Nutcracker.
6. Father Christmas.
7. Krampus.
8. Wrapping paper.
9. Haste.
10. A white elephant gift.